

CROWDS

can they be managed?

A half-day seminar to explore the issues relating to the management of large crowds in an emergency

Birmingham Council House, Victoria Square, Birmingham
Thursday 22nd March 2007

Presented by: Michael Collie

(BBC Midlands Today Presenter)

Programme

09:00 Registration and Coffee

09:30 Opening Remarks

09:40 Keynote Presentation "Crowd Dynamics in Action"
Meir Menachen

10:45 Tea and Coffee

11:00 Interactive Scenario including Panel Discussion and Q&As Featuring:

Meir Menachen	International Crowd Dynamics Specialist
Steve Anderson	Chief Inspector West Midlands Police
Paul Cook	Event Safety Management, MRL Ltd.
Dr. Keith Still	Crowd Dynamics Consultant and lecturer at the Emergency Planning College

12:30 Final Comments

12:40 Lunch and Networking

Cost: £35 + VAT

For further information please contact

 0121 303 4825

To book your place please complete a booking form or book via our website www.birmingham.gov.uk/emergency

Benefits of attending

- Learn from those who have had first hand experience of managing the movement of large crowds in a range of situations
- Hear from expert speakers about the key issues you will need to consider when dealing with the movement of crowds
- Identify what particular issues you may face when dealing with the evacuation of crowds

In conjunction with: Birmingham Resilience Group and West Midlands Conurbation Resilience Forum hosted by

 Birmingham City Council