

New Security Challenges Speaker Series

The School of Global Studies and the Department of International Relations have set up the New Security Challenges Speaker Series, which will bring to Sussex University key academic experts and practitioners in the broad field of international security in order to share multi-disciplinary insights into the complexities of contemporary international relations. Lectures will take place between 6 and 7:30 pm in the lecture theatres and on the dates listed below. For further information contact: Dr. Sergio Catignani (s.catignani@sussex.ac.uk).

Date	Venue	Speaker	Position	Lecture Title
16 Feb 2012	Fulton A	Martin Williamson	Former FCO Deputy Director for Strategy, Planning and Analysis	"Has IR theory value to practitioners at the frontiers of diplomacy?"
6 Mar 2012	Arts A 103	Ozcan Keles	Executive Director, Dialogue Society	"Deradicalisation by Default: The Hizmet Movement Approach"
19 Apr 2012	Arts A1	Dr Thomas Rid	Reader in War Studies, King's College London	"Virtual Subversion. Technology and the Evolution of Political Violence"
2 May 2012	Fulton B	Professor Alessandro Colombo	Professor of International Relations, University of Milan	"The Rising Costs of NATO on between Continuity and Discontinuity"

