citable, shareable, and discoverable

figshare is a repository where users can make all of their research outputs available in a citable, shareable, and discoverable manner

The value of a DOI and an open platform for sharing data
Tom Whyntie, Queen Mary University of London

I am a particle physicist. I did my PhD on the Large Hadron Collider's search for dark matter, which we didn't find, but we still haven't, so that's fine.

even if you get past those things, you have issues with data access, data storage, and data management. And so, the reason I personally find figshare
