The University of Sussex is a leading academic institution nestled in the beautiful South Downs, on the outskirts of Brighton. With staff and students from over 100 countries, we are a diverse and innovative environment, and one of the highest performing universities in the world. We are also a major local employer, with a revenue of over £320m per year and over 3,000 employees.

We are seeking an Telephone Receptionist/Administrator to join our team and play a crucial role in delivering a professional and courteous operation to the University's main telephone function. In this varied and interesting role, with no two days being the same, you will be responsible for handling incoming calls to the University whilst providing callers with a first class customer service experience. You will also be responsible for undertaking a range of administrative work, including keeping up to date records and call systems and liaising with a wide variety of university staff and external individuals. You will act as first point of contact for students, staff and visitors, responding to general enquiries and seek guidance on interpreting university and external regulations as appropriate.

Your effective communication and customer service skills will be invaluable for providing a professional and courteous service and you will require the ability to stay calm, be understanding and compassionate as being the first point of contact you will experience all types of calls. You must have problem-solving abilities, an attention to detail and the ability to manage your own workload.

This is a full time, permanent role and in return, we offer a hybrid approach to working that encourages partial home working, together with an attractive pension scheme, a life assurance scheme and a generous annual leave allowance coupled with bank holidays and University closure days. We also offer discounted gym membership, cycle to work schemes and an attractive campus to work on.

The University of Sussex values the diversity of its staff and students and we welcome applicants from all backgrounds.

2. The School / Division

IT Services delivers a wide range of digital services to users across our Campus and beyond. Our Chief Digital Transformation Officer, Jason Oliver, is now tasked with shaping the strategic initiatives and strategies that will secure a successful and sustainable future for the institution, where digital technology and mobile platforms will increasingly transcend physical and geographical boundaries providing opportunities for the transformation of our students' and staff lives. Prior to joining Sussex he undertook similar advancements at the Science Museum Group and the Royal Opera House, where he built sector-leading teams and delivered a large-scale transformation agendas resulting in step-changes in organisational culture.

IT Services is organised into four main teams, delivering services through an evolving agile service management and delivery model:

The Digital Engagement team are primary changes agents working to transform our business processes and systems, to nurture the relationships between IT Services and its stakeholders, and helping us to understand and develop the ambitions for our use of digital technologies in education, research, student services and university administration.

The Strategy and Architecture team ensure our strategies, technologies, security and standards support our digital aspirations whilst planning the replacement, upgrades and improvements to our technologies and systems, ensuring that they are aligned and prioritised around the University's strategic plans and objectives.

The Infrastructure team work to define, modernise and automate our underlying platforms and network ensuring that they are optimised to meet the needs of the diverse communities across the University, to continue our journey to the cloud and to advance our approaches to ubiquitous connectivity across our campus.

The Operations team work across the research, teaching, professional services and student groups to manage our product areas, develop and integrate our platforms and applications, and support our communities to ensure outstanding service provision across the operational activity of IT Services.
