

Celebrations and Challenges: The Roma Community in the UK

Wednesday 15 July, 2.30-4.30pm
Room 203, Fulton Building, University of Sussex

Panel Speakers:

Dr Annabel Tremlett, Senior Lecturer in Social Inclusion, University of Portsmouth

Annabel's research interests include investigating the differences between public and self representations of minority or marginalised groups, with a focus on ethnicity/'race'. She is particularly interested in how to challenge misleading images through ethnographic research and photo elicitation, and has worked extensively with Roma people in Hungary.

Dr Aidan McGarry, Principal Lecturer in Politics, University of Brighton

Aidan's research focuses on the political participation and representation of Roma across Europe. He is the author of 'Who Speaks for Roma?' (Continuum 2010) and is currently writing a book entitled 'Romaphobia' (Zed 2016) which looks at the causes of anti-Roma prejudice.

Lucie Fremlova, PhD Researcher in Roma LGBT, University of Brighton

Lucie's research is on the lived experiences of Romani LGBTIQ people. She has worked with/for Romani communities in mainland Europe and the UK for the past 17 years, particularly in the fields of desegregated/inclusive education and the movement of Roma to the UK.

Refreshments served

This event can be joined remotely using the following url:
https://connectpro.sussex.ac.uk/cheer_roma15july2015

The remote session will not be live/active until around 1.30pm.
The event will also be recorded.

To reserve a place at this event, contact Tanja Jovanovic:
E: tj54@sussex.ac.uk