

CENTRE FOR INNOVATION AND RESEARCH IN CHILDHOOD AND YOUTH

ESW Open Seminar Series

Tuesday 12 December, 3-4.30pm
Gardner Tower, Attenborough Centre for the Creative Arts

Robin Banerjee, Professor of Developmental Psychology
& Dr Hester Barron, Senior Lecturer in History,
University of Sussex

Emotional Lives at School over 100 Years: 1918-2018

- How have British schools responded to, influenced, and managed the emotions of children over the last one hundred years?
 - Which emotions are important and who decides?
 - What is the teacher's role in building 'social and emotional skills' or 'character'?
 - What if parents disagree?

In this cross-disciplinary seminar, a historian and a psychologist discuss their latest research in this area and consider change and continuity across the century.

Live stream available at www.sussex.ac.uk/esw/circy/events