

“I was inspired to study at Sussex because of its reputation as both a prestigious institution and a politically active centre for young intellectuals. I feel privileged to have been given the opportunity to study here, and will look back on my time with great fondness and gratitude.”

LIBBY BECKMANN, ANTHROPOLOGY BA

US

UNIVERSITY OF SUSSEX

We are looking for thoughtful, critical, brave and curious students who are as dedicated to making the future as we are. If that call speaks to you, come to Sussex and let's change things.

RESEARCH STRENGTHS

Sussex is a top 20 UK university that uses research, a unique location and a strong sense of purpose to broaden its students' perspectives. In the words of our first Vice-Chancellor John Fulton, we help our students to 'make the future.'

We are a world-leading research university with many projects led by the foremost academics in their field, each driven by the belief that you can only make the future if you know what it looks like.

Our research feeds empirical knowledge into the great questions of our age. It impacts policy and practice for businesses, NGOs and governments, and in doing so, helps to ensure that the University and our students shape the world.

A BROADER EDUCATION

We shape the world from a fantastic location that combines both tranquility and energy. We are the only UK university surrounded by a national park, allowing you to explore the hills, woodlands and of course the pubs of the South Downs. While only nine minutes away is the vibrancy of Brighton with its artists, activism, politics and music for you to feed off and be part of.

And famously, there is our sense of purpose. Sussex is a university full of exceptional students who believe they can change things – and they can. With a combination of research and fearlessness, Sussex students are shaping both policy and practice in economics, health, culture, climate change and more.

Together, our approach, location and purpose can give you a broader education and a broader picture of life. These are qualities that are highly valued by employers, with 90% of Sussex graduates being in work within a year, making it one of the UK's most successful universities for employment.

WORLD-LEADING REPUTATION

Over the last 50 years Anthropology at Sussex has built a tradition of leadership in the study of cultural, social, economic and political transformations.

We have one of the largest and best Anthropology departments in the UK and are ranked 6th in the UK in The Times and Sunday Times Good University Guide 2016. In the most recent Research Excellence Framework (REF) we were ranked 4th in the UK for research impact.

Our department offers you high-quality, research-led teaching in a supportive and challenging learning environment. We ask you to question your own and others' assumptions, and confront and find answers to real world problems.

INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE

Our international reputation for engaging with real-life concerns in an increasingly unequal world produces graduates who are in demand. 85% of our graduates are working in a wide range of careers or in further study 6 months after graduating (Destination of Leavers from Higher Education survey 2014).

Sussex anthropologists are now working in the UK and across the world in roles that really make a difference to people's lives. Whichever direction you decide to take, an Anthropology degree from Sussex can help you get there.

Email: anthoffice@sussex.ac.uk

www.sussex.ac.uk/anthropology

