

The Centre for Advanced International Theory

Sussex International Theory Prize

2024

Eligibility:

- The work should be in International Relations, broadly conceived – including sub-fields
- The work must have been published in 2023: judged by copyright date
- Nominations should be for research monographs only: edited volumes, textbooks, articles and book chapters are not eligible

Submission/Nomination:

- The award is made annually on the basis of nominations by individuals, publishers and peers
- Nominations should take the form of a statement of less than 200 words on why the work could be considered the best piece of innovative theoretical research in International Relations from the previous year
- Nominators (including publishers) are limited to one submission
- It is the nominator's responsibility to contact the publisher and request that 7 hard copies (e-books not accepted) of the title be sent by the nomination deadline to:

Amy Collyer
c/o Centre for Advanced International Theory
Research Office, Room C125, Arts C Building,
University of Sussex
Falmer, East Sussex, BN1 9SJ UK

For further information see <https://www.sussex.ac.uk/research/centres/centre-for-advanced-international-theory/news-and-events/news?id=63675>

For any logistical questions, please contact Amy Collyer at cait@sussex.ac.uk.

Nominations must be submitted by 27 May, 5pm, to cait@sussex.ac.uk
Book copies must also arrive by this date