Transport

After your visit today you may like to go and have a look around Brighton. Before choosing a university it is important to get a feel for the surrounding area in order to check that the location is the right place for you. You can find details on the best ways to get into Brighton on this page.

The University of Sussex is located at Falmer on the A27 road between Brighton and Lewes, about four miles from the centre of Brighton. It is easy to get to Brighton by road, bus or train.

ROAD

Leave campus by University Way, which runs past the Sports Centre, and at the traffic lights turn right under the underpass signposted to Brighton. This road is called Lewes Road and goes straight down to the sea front. At the sea front you can turn right towards the main shops and car parks in town.

TRAIN

Falmer train station is directly opposite the University campus. Pedestrian access is via a subway under the A27. The station is well served by frequent local trains to Brighton and Lewes (the journey takes about nine minutes in either direction). Four trains an hour go to Brighton each day.

BUS

Number 25 and 25X buses run between campus and Churchill Square (in the centre of Brighton), plus the number 23 runs from Brighton Marina, via the Royal Sussex Hospital to campus. From the bus stop next to Falmer train station you can take the numbers 25, 28, 29 to Brighton town centre. Travel time to town is about 20-30 minutes.

To get to Lewes by bus you can take the 28 or 29 from the campus-side bus stop on the A27.

NIGHT BUS

The N25 night bus runs between campus and the centre of town up to six times an hour, seven days a week. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights there is an additional night bus called the N29, which also stops on campus.

BIKE

Cycling from campus to the sea front takes about 20 minutes. We have a bike maintenance and bike hire society.

PARKING ON CAMPUS

Please note that students who live on campus are not usually allowed to park a vehicle on campus. The only exceptions are for students who have a mobility disability or students who have their families living with them. Students living in off-campus accommodation are eligible to apply for a permit or pass to park, but charges apply.
